The earth is not as healthy as it used to be .The problem of dirty air, polluted rivers, acid rain and nuclear waste make a lot of people worry about the future .They feel that it's important to do something quickly before it's too late.

Acid rain is one of the biggest problems in Europe .Smoke from factories and power stations in European countries goes up into the atmosphere .This smoke contains sulphur and other chemicals .When the wind blows across Europe, it falls with the rain in Scandinavia, Germany and Britain .This is acid rain .It damages trees and kills the fish in lakes and rivers.

Governments should find a way to solve the problem of acid rain. Most of the European countries have agreed to reduce the amount of sulphur in the air. British experts, however, feel it's not enough to control industry .They are certain that the real problem is the smoke from millions of cars in Europe.
