WHAT ARE YOU AFRAID OF?

1-You might have a fear of dogs if you have ever been bitten by one. However, if you avoid walking down streets where you think there might be a dog, you may have a phobia, which is an irrational reaction to an object or situation that is not necessary dangerous. A person whose fear has started to change his or her life probably has a phobia. Different surveys say that between ten and eighty percent of us have at least one phobia.

2- Flying may be the safest way to travel, but many people are scared of doing it. Fear of heights is also very common – even Spider-Man actor Tobey Maguire can't stand them. However, Tobey is not afraid of spiders, which are the creatures that most people are afraid of. Someone who is terrified of spiders is Rupert Grint, who plays Ron Weasley in the Harry Potter films. In one scene of the film, we come into the spider's hollow, where we meet Aragog – a spider that is the size of an elephant and really scary. I'm really scared of spiders, he said. J.K. Rowling, who wrote the Harry Potter books, also shares his phobia.

3- Cats are cuddly for most of us, but apparently not for such powerful figures in history as Alexander the Great, Genghis Khan, and Napoleon Bonaparte, who all shared a fear of felines. Actor Nicole Kidman says: ' I'm not scared of snakes or spiders, but I'm scared of butterflies. Sometimes when I came home from school the biggest butterfly you'd ever seen would be just sitting on our front gate. I would climb over the fence, crawl around to the side of the house – anything to avoid having to go through the front gate.' Clowns are not so funny for actor Johnny Depp, whose childhood memory of their 'painted faces and fake smiles' still terrifies him.
